JAN. 10 DATE FOR FIRST KEY INSTALLMENT

Several of Staff Named

The first payment for the 1936 Key will be collected Friday, Jan. 10. Representatives of the staff will be in the "well" throughout the day.

Those who signed pledges are requested to meet this obligation as promptly as possible in order that the early publication of the annual may be facilitated.

This week the first appointments on the 1936 Key staff were announced by the Editorial Board consisting of Dale Kellogg, Editor-in-Chief; Kenneth Doebling, Business Manager; and Prof. D. J. Crowley, Faculty Advisor.

The post of Circulation Manager is to be filled by Arthur Knappe with Joseph Straley as Assistant. Inez Gorsuch and John Gaeth are to be Social Editors; Lois Solether, Literary Editor; and Ellen Ronk, Art Editor. Carleton Newmiller will be Sports Editor.

This skeleton staff will go ahead with plans for the annual until the balance of the members are appointed in the near future.

Dr. Swanson Leads Faculty

Dr. Swanson will lead the panel and other members for the faculty meeting, Jan. 26, 1936. Other members taking a part in the panel will be Mrs. Sharp, Mr. McEwen, Miss Lorenz, Miss Shaw, Dr. Slater. The following topic will be under consideration: "Granted that the development of a proper social attitude on the part of our students is an aim of increasing importance, what modifications of our present methods and what new plans should be considered to further this end?"

Marriage Question To Be Discussed

Because of the unusual popularity of the series, "When Young People Think About Marriage" the Westminster League of the Presbyterian church will continue this subject next Sunday evening at 6:30. Numerous questions have been raised in personal consultation and in writing as a result of the meetings dealing with this subject.

Dr. A. R. Siebens, pastor of the church has agreed to devote two further Sunday evenings discussing these questions. Special musical numbers and group singing will constitute a part of the program.

Among the questions raised are the following: "Why must it always be the girl who upholds high standards in relationships between men and women?" "Why do we have higher moral standards for women than for men?" "Does a man really love a woman if he suggests marriage before he can provide?" "Should engagements be long or short?"

Music Featured In Assembly

KEY BOOSTED

The Assembly program for Dec. 18 was the final number of the year. It was divided into three parts and presented by students from various departments. The University Orchestra appeared first and played several numbers: "To A Wild Rose" was without doubt the favorite. Prof. McEwen has been quite successful with this group and it is a credit to our institution.

Members of the Senior class and faculty next gave short talks to encourage subscriptions to the 1936 annual. This college did not publish a year book last year and now that we have become a university it is imperative that a Key be printed every year.

The Men's Glee Club concluded the program with a few vocal selections. The club is larger this year than previously and several good voices have been added. The program was not especially suggestive of Christmas, as the traditional Yuletide program was given the following evening.

FALCONS HOST TO TOLEDO U TUESDAY

Debate Teams Face Big Year

The Bowling Green Women's Debate Teams have an engagement with Baldwin-Wallace here Jan. 16, and will take part in the tournament at Tiffin, Jan. 17-18.

Members of the women's teams are: Steffani, Boyer, Woodworth, Lane, Bushey, Wilson, Herman, Dill, English, Heitzman, Schnur, Fisher, Carmen, Zaugg.

The Bowling Green Men's Debate teams will engage in three big tournaments and possibly several more. The debate program has not been fully worked out. Members of the men's teams include: Cryer, Karg, Everitt, Vann, Gryting, Zaugg, Farrell, Corfman, Elmer Cryer, McClintock, Cornish, Knaggs, Hawver, Hutchinson, Beattie, Goranson, Emerson, Hoops, Avery, Moore, Jordan, King, Cheatwood, Gill, Ringer, Blazer, Combs, Thatcher, Mong, and Williams.

Play Friday at Otterbein

With two victories tucked away before the holidays, the Falcons return to meet Otterbein at Westerville Friday night and the old rival Toledo U in B. G. on Tuesday night.

The Falcons are on top of the standings in the Ohio Conference and must win these two games to stay there. Little is known of the Otterbein team but they will prove to be a formidable foe. Last year the Falcons barely nosed out the U. B.'s so undoubtedly they will encounter a stiff battle at the Westerville school.

With Friday night's game put away in the records the books are again opened on Tuesday night when the Rockets of Toledo U. invade the Falcon gym. T. U. will bring a strong team here as their record shows. They whipped Ashland, Bluffton, Harvard decisively, and barely lost to U. of Michigan by a 33 to 32 score. The local five will have to be at their best when they meet the Rockets. If the Falcons can hold down T. U.'s diminutive forward, Cupp, it should be a good game. This Cupp is a dead shot and usually leads his team mates in scoring. B. G. also has an ace scorer in Ken Weber who can match Cupp shot for shot. Get ready for this big game and come prepared to cheer and yell. T. U. whitewashed our fellows in football but they won't do it in basketball.

The Frosh team will meet the Senior team at 7:00 in an inter-class game.

Dr. Kohl Makes Two Addresses

Dr. Kohl addressed a meeting of Bowling Green teachers on the topic "Equality", Dec. 17.

The Township Trustees of Wood county heard Dr. Kohl on the topic "Reorganization of Local Government", Jan. 3.

RESERVE ROOM ANALYZED

Committee of Six Gives Second Report

Because of the frequent criticisms of the Reserve Room heard on the campus, the Committee of Six chose this for the subject of their second investigation. The text of the report follows:

"On the whole the operation of this department is successful, but the following constructive suggestions are offered:

1. In view of the crowded condition prevailing at certain times in the Reserve Room, a real improvement would be the creation of a Social Science Reading Room in the room across the hall. On shelves around the room would be placed the books for the History, Economics, and Sociology courses, with maps, atlases, and dictionaries readily available. The duties of the student in this room would consist chiefly of surveillance.

2. In both Rooms the "absolute quiet (?) rule" should be released. A student should be able to ask a question of his neighbor, although lengthy conversations would necessarily have to be controlled.

3. Since a large number of students here are working their way through school, the present

25 cents fine for books which are overdue less than 15 minutes is excessive. A graduated scale of 10 cents for the first 15 minutes, 5 cents for each additional 15 minutes of the first hour, and 5 cents for each additional hour is suggested.

4. When the number of copies permits, a student should be allowed to use more than one book at a time.

5. Although the majority of the Student Assistants fill their positions well, a few could afford to take lessons in courtesy and tact, and might be more familiar with their duties."

Committee of Six

HOLT PILOTS FORTY STUDENTS THROUGH SOUTHLAND

Another highly successful chapter in the B. G. travel book was completed when an ultra-enthusiastic group of travelers returned on the afternoon of Jan. 1 from a 3,000 miles tour of the entire state of Florida and many other outstanding points of interest in the South.

This "happy family" of 40 filled every seat in the large Greyhound bus; and a most congenial and fine group it was. Bowling Green has always had reason to be proud of the travel groups who have gone out from here on various trips; and this includes some 1,800 or more individuals.

While the weather on this trip was not as warm as on the previous Florida tour, it did not interfere with the sight-seeing; and while there was less enthusiasm for the sea bathing this time, other interesting events were substituted—as a delightful sea ride out to the Gulf stream and along the "keys", besides extra land rides.

Two interesting sections of the Everglades were made, and a special tour of inspection was made of the largest sugar cane mill and plantation in the U. S. at Clewiston, Fla., in the edge of the northern Everglades.

The Biltmore house and grounds (comparable to the best European castles) were visited; also the winter training quarters of the Ringling shows; the great Ringling Art Museum with its priceless paintings and works of art (now one of the great art museums of the world). Tarpon Springs, at present the leading sponge center of the U. S., was a place of special interest as the sponging fleet was in port, and the quantities of sponges out for sale was unusually large. This is one of the best places in the South for the purchase of various sea specimens, and the B. G. teachers were not slow in taking advantage of this exceptional opportunity.

As a crowning feature of the Florida tour a half day was spent at Crystal Springs, near Ocala—probably the most beautiful and most remarkable group of springs in the world.

The party ride on the glass-bottomed boats made it possible to see the depths and the very beautiful aquatic life of these wonderful springs.

The trip to the Bok tower at Lake Wales; the impressively beautiful sea drive at Palm Beach; the miles of roads thru large orchards of oranges, grape fruit, tangerines; the numerous coconut palms, palmettoes, and many tropical trees, were but a few of the many appealing features of this extended winter tour to the Southland; also the grand views from Cumberland Gap and the Sky Line Drive, together with the trip up Lookout Mountain on the return.

An unusual sight on the return trip was an extended ice storm. For a score of miles on either side of Atlanta the ice-covered trees and vegetation were a sight never-to-be forgotten—a veritable fairyland. "Beautiful destruction," some called it, as the loss caused to the telephone companies and the destruction to trees was very great; yet the sun shining on the glistening ice mantle made it a sight impressively beautiful and beyond human description. It seemed strange, indeed, to witness such a sight in the South.

Are such extended educational tours worth while for teachers and students? Ask any of the 40 who went on this Florida Southland tour of 3,000 miles.

1936--Resolved: To Make B. G. a Friendly University

Someone has said that New Year's resolutions were made to be broken, let us make one to keep. A university can be no better than the people who compose it, faculty and students. In this, our first year as a state university, let us resolve to do everything for the betterment of our school and to refrain from doing anything to degrade it. May every student endeavor to behave on and off the campus as a university student should, support all campus activities as far as possible, give sports a boost and advertise our college at home and abroad.

Let us make our university known from January, 1936, as a cosmopolitan institution with worldly ideas, rather than a stonemason's college devoted to text-book knowledge, as is the case with some schools. This is a big assignment and can not be accomplished by students alone, but requires the cooperation of students and faculty members. Above all let us be a little more considerate of others so that in the future his institution may come to be known as the Friendly University.

Let's Coöperate . .

We are again on the threshold of a new year.

Have you ever compared our university library at B. G. with libraries of other institutions of similar standing? We are fortunate in having one of the most modern and best equipped libraries in the state for a school of our size. There are nearly 50,000 books and more than a hundred different magazines and newspapers for the use of students.

It is necessary to draw up certain rules in order to give everyone good service and discourage certain thoughtless people from destroying property. Occasionally someone inadvertently carries away or destroys a magazine. These periodicals are practically free and no library fee is charged, as is the case at some colleges. When someone destroys a magazine, everyone suffers; the material is gone and more stringent rules are enforced.

These periodicals are not personal property but are placed in the library so that everyone may enjoy them. Let us be good sports and appreciate what privileges we have, thereby proving ourselves deserving of greater privileges. Remember, the other fellow and when you have finished an article pass it on to a fellow student, so that he may enjoy it.

The Changing Scene

The scene is on a flat, uninteresting middle-western plain. The town is a county seat for a farming region. On the eastern edge of the town is a tract of low, worthless ground. Heaps of yellow sand, a sparse growth of weeds and a few fine trees form the only relief for the landscape. That was our University campus of not more than forty years ago.

Buildings began to grow from the barren earth and a normal school sprang up. The limestone bedrock supported the foundations of those buildings. That was easily possible for the bedrock was but thinly covered with soil and, in fact, outcropped on the Shatzel terrace.

A greater task than finding a firm foundation was building soil for lawns and walks. To enable the students to cross the road without filling their shoes with sand, boards connected the narrow footpaths that were the sidewalks.

The southwest corner of the campus was a dump heap for the road that was built past it. Unsightly mounds of earth covered its area. A stagnant pool, an excellent breeding place for mosquitoes, stood on the northeast corner of the present library lawn. Where the present Women's Playground is now situated was a low, marshy spot which was only made useful by filling in tons of dirt at the cost of $18,000.

The present scene is the result of much planning, effort, and expense. All of the grounds and even the drives are artificial. The only natural level is the sunken spot in front of the Science Building and the only natural ground was that in the grove. Our University was not set down on level green fields but created its own beauty.

"Belief" . .

Note—The following article is taken from The Toledo Lutheran dated Sept. 6, 1935. It is a chapel address given some years ago by President Hopkins of Dartmouth College. The article is so packed with food for thought that Bowling Green students may do well to read it.

"Personally, I am not so concerned about the occasional under-graduate who professes unbelief as I am by the fact that only very occasionally does one such base his unbelief on anything except the most abysmal ignorance in regard to the origins of religion and the evolution of religious theory. Such an attitude is not worthy of a college man.

"We hold that man ridiculous who discusses history without ever having subjected himself to the discipline of historical study. The world is full of men recognized as cranks, who undertake to develop scientific truth without knowledge of the scientific method. We smile at the criticisms of art and literature by men who frankly have shut their minds against appreciation of the one or the other. No more should we take the opinion of the man seriously in regard to religion who seeks neither knowledge of nor contact with religious things.

"I am willing to grant the right of unbelief to a man who has considered and informed himself in regard to the origins of religious thought through a study, for instance, of the significance of the Greek gods, the Mosaic Law, the philosophy of Buddha, the precepts of Confucius, and the idealism of Jesus. I am not willing to believe that under-graduate to be intelligent whose unbelief is based solely on opinion derived from discussion in stove leagues or in midnight sessions in dormitories or fraternity houses. I am not willing to grant to that man the right of unbelief. He has not accepted the obligations which go with the needful assuming of the burden of proof.

"Is it intelligent for a college man, who knows nothing of the history of religious thought, who knows nothing of what the spirit of religion has done for the advance of humanity, who has no acquaintanceship with the great literatures and the great philosophies of religion, and who avoids rather than seek the best contemporary thought in regard to religious affairs, to take an attitude of unbelief?

"It is not a liberal attitude to close the mind against any aspect of truth; it is not courageous to take a stand which requires no courage; it is not significant of intellectual competence to hold an opinion simply because of ignorance of evidence to the contrary of that opinion.

"Edwin Arlington Robinson, the poet, speaking of this matter, once said that to him the world was not a prison house but rather a spiritual kindergarten in which millions of bewildered infants tried to spell 'God' with the wrong blocks." The question which I wish to leave with you today is whether a man is justified in assuming that the word 'God' does not exist because he does not know how to spell and is not willing to make any effort to learn."

COMMERCE CORNER

Quil-Type will meet Wednesday evening, Jan. 8 at 7:30 p. m. in the Recital Hall of the Practical Arts Building. A very good program has been planned. Miss Eleanor Jean Kelley, head of the Inter-County Credit Association will speak on the work of the credit association. In addition, through the courtesy of Prof. Knepper, head of the Commercial Department, two reels of motion pictures will be shown illustrating certain business activities which will be of interest to all business students. Every member is urged to be there.

UNIVERSITY GABLE

This nation needs more politicians who love the people between political campaigns—New York Times.

One university in New York has a campus newspaper which always gives the weather forecast. They say this is done so the co-eds know what type of apparel to wear for the ensuing week.

The very fortunate group that visited Florida during the holiday vacation certainly missed a heap of breezy weather. Prof. Holt, geography instructor and wide traveler, was the chaperon of the southern trip.

Students Direct

Vemba Foltz and Carl Hawver are the student directors who will be responsible for the next play by the Play Production Class. The play is "The Rector" by Rachel Carruthers and will be presented, Jan. 16.

Inefficiency of The Library

Carlyle's statement that "The True University of these days is a Collection of Books" is true; but, what good is a collection of books if you don't have access to them when you have need of them?

Why doesn't the library stay open Friday evenings and all-day Saturdays? It is true that the week-ends are reserved for the campus social functions, but not everyone attends these. There are some students who would much rather read a book than attend a dance or a football game. It is essential that the library be open more hours for those students who desire to do more than the minimum of reading.

Often the books that are needed are in the bindery, not for a day or so, but for weeks. Furthermore, it seems to be the habit to rush the new magazines to the bindery. What good, gen-

Fraternities

Delhi

The Delhi men returned from their Christmas vacation with new enthusiasm and determination to do better and more in this new year. A few complaints were registered of stomach and toothaches. Most of the fellows made New Year resolutions but all have broken except the one made by Robert Ruth. Bob resolved not to wear any of his Christmas neckties this year and after seeing the ties we are inclined to believe he will carry through. Our president, Walter Barnes, is busy composing a new and original theme song for the Fraternity. He says it will be something about the music going "down and around."

Commoners

All hail to a New Year! With its arrival we feel once more as the philosopher of old has said, "Hope springs eternal in the human breast."

It is the expectation of this scribe that this university may enjoy a "new birth of freedom". Scholarship should supercede all other motives. A realization of his full powers should loom as a worthy goal to every student. The wroth of materialism should diminish and leave in its stead a discriminating sense of true values. Philosophy should find a place in every student's life. To many, this will require a little thinking; so perhaps you will not be willing to give it a try. But, in any case, it is the cherished hope of this scribe that we, who call ourselves students, who will soon be graduates of a university, who have been exposed to a little learning and who have the unmissable job of rebuilding a civilization, will not rush headlong into the abyss of false idealism without any thoughts for the eternal values round about us. Let us give serious consideration to the words, "Give to every other human being every right you claim for yourself." Before this mighty and cardinal principle much of our false idealism crumbles. Let us begin the new year with our minds set to achieve, but to achieve only through the liberating forces of "self-revelence, self-knowledge, self-control these three alone bring life to sovereign power." Until next week—so long.

Frosh—"Have you heard the new volcano song, my good man?"

Prof—"No, can't say as I have."

FACULTY VACATIONS

Members of the faculty found the past two weeks vacation an opportunity for travel and work away from the campus. Accounts of these trips of the faculty follow:

Dr. Allen spent the early part of the vacation in research work in the library at Ann Arbor. Dr. Allen later attended the meeting of the Modern Language Association in Cincinnati where he read his paper "Walt Whitman and Jules Michelet."

Dr. Biery enjoyed Christmas Day with his son in New York City and journeyed on to spend a few days with his daughter in Boston. A house party at the country home of Colonel Phisterer near Booneville, N. Y. was attended by Dr. Biery during the last week of the holidays.

Dr. Bourne went to New York City to attend the opera and on to Washington, D. C. for study in the Library of Congress. A California friend who is now studying in the University of Chicago accompanied Dr. Bourne on her trip.

Prof. Carmichael attended the meeting of the National Association of Teachers of Speech in Chicago for several days beginning Dec. 30.

Dr. Deno, Prof. Moseley, and

Dr. Slater were present at the meeting of the National Science Association in St. Louis.

Miss Henderson enjoyed the two weeks at her home in Green Bay, Wis.

Miss Heston, likewise, spent the vacation at her home in Toledo.

Mr. Knepper attended the meeting of the National Commercial Teachers Federation, Dec. 26, 27, 28 in Chicago.

Prof. Mathias and his wife visited with relatives in Rochester and Logansport, Ind.

Prof. Moseley spent a few days at the museums in Chicago and then went on to St. Louis where he attended the meetings of various scientific societies.

Miss Neilsen went to her home in Omaha, Nebraska.

Mr. Ockerman and his wife visited relatives in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Miss Ogle traveled to her home in Des Moines, Iowa, stopping at the home of friends in Chicago en route.

Dr. Overman and his family spent Christmas Day with relatives in Napoleon, O.

Miss Pigg visited at her home in Orrick, Missouri.

Dr. Reeb and his wife were at Athens and Battlecreek, Michigan, during the past vacation.

Dr. Rose spent his holiday in Cincinnati, and Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Rose visited in Louisville, and Bloomington, Ky.

Dean Sharp enjoyed the vacation period at the home of her parents in Greenville, O.

Dr. Slater spent Christmas Day in Detroit and the remainder of the week attended the meeting of the National Science Association in St. Louis.

Dr. Swanson and his wife met friends from New York University at Washington, D. C. and proceeded by motor to Florida.

Dr. Todd attended the American Student Health Association meeting in New York, Dec. 27-28 and spent the rest of the period in Atlantic City, Ga.

Miss West visited at her home in Georgia during the two weeks' vacation.

Dr. Williamson enjoyed the holidays at her home in Cedarville, Ohio.

Miss Wills was at home in Chicago over the holidays.

Dr. Witherington spent the vacation at his home in Tennessee.

erally speaking, is a month-old magazine?

The reading-room is beautifully decorated. It really is an inspiration except for those ugly, empty shelves. There are many valuable and interesting volumes tucked away that the student should have free access to, and which should occupy the empty spaces.

There are other obstacles that confront the students, such as not being able to take the same book out on a 'white charge' more than once during the semester. Of course, if the book is needed, it can be obtained indirectly. But such tactics should not be necessary.

Also, the library refuses to issue books on 'white charges' during the last hour of the day. Sometimes the desired book isn't found until then.

Finally, if you are fortunate in obtaining the book you wish, you have no way of knowing when it is due unless you write it down or trust your memory. Of course, the library knows. They keep the card instead of giving it to you. It doesn't matter to them how much a student's fine is. Recently, a book belonging to this library was left by mistake at the city library. The city librarian, being considerate, dropped her work to return the book out here in order to save the student money. Out here, the opposite interest prevailed. The librarian was in no hurry to mark the book returned. She said that it didn't make any difference to her how much the student had to pay. If he was so careless as to leave the book at the wrong place, the fine must serve as a disciplinary measure. And, in other similar cases, for further discipline, the student may be forbidden to use the library for a stated time. If not forbidden, he may be afraid to use it again for fear of worse error.

Surely a more efficient and cooperative library system could be devised for this university. Then, in these days and in this place, a collection of books might become a true university.

Hello, everybody!

We're just as glad to be back as you are, looking forward to a pleasant year together, studying earnestly, taking in all the social events, participating in the activities of Student Council and Key pledges and enjoying every single moment of it all.

Seven Sister Scribbles

Best wishes for the happiest of New Years from the Seven Sisters. We haven't made any resolutions but our intentions are good, and we're in for bigger and better things and, incidentally, more of them.

We sympathize deeply with Kathleen Guittard in the loss of her father, but are very glad that she is to move into the house with us. One of our favorites, Ellen Rudolph, is to migrate to one of the dorms. It is certainly our loss, but their gain.

Exams ahead instead of vacation, but we'll face them in true Seven Sister spirit, and lose our allotted amount of sleep, as usual.

Five Sister Flashes

Well, it seems that the holidays are getting more remote every minute and the only thing left to look forward to is the good ol' summer time. We all had such a grand vacation that we seem to be spoiled! From all appearances, 1936 is going to be an exciting, and, we hope, a profitable year.

Thanks, pledges, for the lovely Christmas party. We appreciate your clever planning, hard work and gifts (?)

We want to extend a special good wish for the new year to our acting sponsor, Miss Henderson, and our absent sponsor, Mrs. Mooers.

Falcons Down Ashland

TEAM PLAY IMPROVED

The Falcons won their second conference basketball game on Wednesday, Dec. 18, by defeating Ashland College, 37 to 26, in the local gym. This victory placed B. G. on top in the conference standings and placed Ashland in the cellar with three defeats and no victories. Ashland came into northwestern Ohio for a week-end visit and left without winning a game in three starts. Toledo U defeated them 44 to 14, then B. G. defeated them and finally Defiance College whipped them 50 to 18.

Ashland jumped into an early lead of 5 to 0 but it lasted only until the Falcons got the range of the basket. The lead was soon overcome and at half time the local five held a 16 to 11 lead.

Resuming play after intermission the Eagles of Ashland started a scoring spree and made the Falcons hustle to keep the lead. In the closing minutes the B. G. five pulled away to a safe lead and a victory.

Ken Weber, the scoring ace, again led the Falcons in total points by caging seven field goals for 14 points. Red Stevenson, at center, caged 3 field goals and a foul shot for seven points while Jones and Thomas came through with six points each.

The team play of the Falcons showed improvement and their clever ball handling was a spectacle to watch. With a few more games and practices under their belt the local team should be as strong as any other school in the conference.

In order to get into shape for Otterbein and T. U. the Falcons have been practicing since last Thursday. The distance to Westerville is too great for much following of the student body but we can root for them just the same. Following is the box score of the game:

1935 Sports Summary

Basketball

The 1934-35 basketball team started off with three straight victories over Kent, Ashland, and Otterbein. Toledo U was the first team to defeat the locals. Marietta defeated the Falcons in the next game. The Falcons rose into the victory column again to defeat Ohio Northern, the Alumni and Heidelberg. The next six and final games were lost to Baldwin-Wallace, Hiram, Ohio College of Chiropractic, Ohio Northern, Heidelberg and Toledo U.

Golf

The Golf team composed of Stevenson, Fenstermaker, Wallace and Kinney defeated Findlay twice and won one and lost one with St. John's U, of Toledo.

Track

The indoor track season found the Falcons losing meets to Oberlin, Wayne U of Detroit, and Toledo U.

The Outdoor track team was much better as the local track men were victorious over Capital and Heidelberg and lost to Ypsilanti and Toledo U.

The Falcons won second place in the N-W Ohio meet and took third place in the conference meet. The Falcon's four first places made a better record than any other school could make, but B. G. failed to place many men in second third positions. John Hartman, ace of the track team, won three firsts by taking the 100 and 220 yard dashes and 220 yard low hurdles. Ken Weber won the discus for the other first.

Baseball

There was no baseball team due to lack of a playing field but the "national sport" will again be on the sports calendar this spring.

Football

Since most of you were here this fall you know the record of the football team. One game was won and six were lost but we look for a much better season this fall.

HANDBALL TOURNAMENT

An all college handball tournament will be started now that vacation is over. Entries must be made in the P. E. building as play will start at once. The tournament will consist of both singles and doubles play.

Intramural Basketball

DECEMBER GAMES

The intramural basketball league continued play last week without any interruption. The boys seemed to feel very good about the fact that they could play their games according to schedule as a result several upsets occurred. For the first round of play Monday night a strong and fighting Y. M. C. A. team came through with there second upset victory of the season. This time the victims were the Delhi boys. The Delhi's were undefeated up to this point. The game was a close guarding affair with no high scoring individuals. In the other 7 o'clock game the Jones boys came thru with a victory over the Wooster St. Marvells. This was a good game but due to the Delhi-Y. M. C. A. on the other court, it passed almost unobserved.

For the 8:00 o'clock games, the Commodors came through with another victory. This time the victim was the Celtics. This was also a well played game but again the interest was centered on the other court where the erratic Five Brother bunch was beating the Straight Shooters. The Straight Shooters were undefeated up to this point and can well blame their defeat to the loss of men when the Freshman squad was picked.

On Wednesday night the strong Delhi team again hit a winning stride when they beat the strong Commodor team in a very decisive manner. This game was featured by the scoring of Barnes who made 13 points for the Delhi boys. At the same time the Straight Shooters were losing there second straight game to the undefeated Purity bunch. Both of these teams lost heavily when the Frosh squad was picked but the Purity boys seemed to have retained more team work. Hence the victory.

Immediately following the Purity-Straight Shooter game the Lima Beans and Celtics engaged in a game to fight for last place. This game was won by the Beans. Hence the Celtics are at the bottom of the heap. While the last place battle was going on the strong Y. M. C. A. team continued on its winning ways by defeating the Wooster Marvells and wind-up play for the week.
